Testing via the arm can be less painful, but possibly less accurate, so it is important to follow the instructions, and discuss this option with your doctor before relying on the readings.

I haven't been testing because I can't afford the strips. 3 weeks ago I was in the hospital with ketoacidosis. 1 week after I got out I had a heart attack - lost my insurance 3 years ago. I'm just beside myself with worry. The medicine and insulin costs over 800 dollars a month. I haven't had a steady job in over 2 years after losing my job of 22 years.
